HotelGračanica

Dear friends of Hotel Gračanica,

It is four months since our last newsletter, and many things have happened since. Atlan (Ado) Gidžić has left the hotel after six years as deputy manager, and instead, Lidija Fazliu Tokić and Aziza Ramić are now the new deputy managers. We also have four new staff members: Tamara Krstić is our new waitress, together with Petar Ristić, while Živojin Marinković has become our handyman and Raim Butić will do an internship at the hotel for the coming six months.

The Jimmy Mustafa Band that regularly plays at our Sunday brunch has recorded their second album, "Romane Bajrakja", in June (album cover painting: Bajram Mehmeti) and immediately went on tour in Germany. In October, they will go on their second tour in Switzerland, with these concerts:

- Chur, Postremise, 17 October at 19:00
- Alvaneu-Dorf, Nido del Lupo, 18 October at 19:00
- Mathon, Restaurant Muntsuley, 19 October at 19:00
- Arogno, Bar de la Poste, 20 October at 19:00
- Bellinzona, Biblioteca Interculturale, 24 October at 19:00
- Winterthur, Coalmine, 25 October at 19:00
- Winterthur, Ida-Beiz, 26 October at 20:30
- Zürich, Maxim Theater, 27 October at 20:00

Tourismus im Kosovo

Ein Hotel als Ort der Begegnung

Urlaub im Kosovo? Das klingt für die meisten Menschen eher abenteuerlich. Zu negativ ist das Image der kleinen Balkan-Republik. Ein ehemaliger Schweizer Diplomat will, dass sich das ändert, und hat in Pristina ein Hotel eröffnet. Neben Erholung will er auch für Verständigung zwischen den Ethnien sorgen.

Von Christoph Kersting

Einen Raum schaffen, in dem Menschen zusammen leben und arbeiten, egal zu welcher Volksgruppe sie gehören – im Hotel Gračanica scheint das zu klappen (Deutschlandradio / Christoph Kersting)

German public radio has also aired a new feature about the hotel: Ein Hotel als Ort der Begegnung. For more media reports about us in English, German, French, Italian, Dutch, Greek, Serbian, Albanian and Romanes check our website!
